The management is arranging to accommodate over one hundred heads of horses. The new Horse Barn is offering splendid quarters and the new pavilion will give ample opportunity for proper display while judging, and give those interested a chance to be comfortably seated and have a good view while the animals are on display.

The Sheep Exhibit and the Hog Exhibit will be the largest so far in the history of the fair. Sheeping men from all sections are writing for space in the pens.

The Hog exhibit will be exceptionally strong owing to the increasing interest that is being manifested in this county in that line of live stock. ## THE EDITOR CONGRATULATED

The following letter of congratulation has been received from a friend of the editor with request for publication.

August 17, 1921

Hon. Frank E. Kenyon.

Wauseon, Ohio.

My Dear Sir:

I certainly was pleased to learn of your appointment to service in the State administration, not because it will therefore disappoint any malcontent who feared you "would not get your money back for your expenses in making the application," but more particularly because it is a fairly accurate barometer of the attitude of Governor Davis.

It means that a clean slate both in citizenship and politics and recognized ability are the standards by which one is to be measured by his appointees. It means moreover that such despicable politics as were used in attempting to defeat you will not be successful, especially when practiced by one whose every material advantage in life came at the hands of the party he sought to hamstring in the late campaign. It is evident that Governor Davis has a lingering suspicion of the author of the cowardly and dastardly attack that was fostered against him in this county, and that this author is not to be "pinner at Columbus" that he once was.

Again I congratulate you in your clean victory over dirty, unscrupulous mudslinging.

Yours truly,

Frank S. Ham

STORIES OF AMERICA AND AMERICANS

The Story of Seneca John — A Capital Punishment Under Indian Law in Ohio in 1832.

About 1832 S. A. Ferrall, an English subject wrote about his "rambles of six thousand miles in America." He walked from Sandusky, Columbus, and went from the latter place to Cincinnati, mostly by stage. He passed through Sandusky and Seneca counties, entered Crawford county and "crossed the Wyandot prairie." He notes that the Indians were everywhere governed by their own laws; that is, they had laws of their own within their reservations. He then tells what might be termed the original story of "Seneca John."

There were three chiefs, brothers, Seneca John the eldest, Red Hand and Black Snake. Seneca John was the principal chief of the tribe, a noble character and much esteemed by the whites. He died from poison at the hands of his brother Red Hand and a squaw, as was ascertained in a council of other chiefs. It was decreed that his own brother Black Snake should execute Red Hand in order to prevent feuds arising in the tribe. Accordingly Black Snake in the evening of the day of the execution of the condemned chief and after sitting in silence for some time said: "My best chiefs say you have killed my father's son — they say my brother must die." Red Hand merely replied: "They say so," and continued to smoke. After a long further silence, Black Snake again said pointing to the setting sun, "When he appears above those trees," (moving his arm around to the opposite direction) "I come to kill you." Red Hand nodded his head in the short significant manner of the Indian and replied, "Good."

The next morning Black Snake came, followed by two chiefs and entered the hut and first put out the fire. He then returned and stood before his brother, his eyes bent to the ground. Red Hand said in great calmness, "Has my brother come that I may die?" "It is so," was the reply. "Then," exclaimed Red Hand grasping his brother's left hand with his right, and dashing the blanket from his head, "Strike sure!" The tomahawk came down, and in a short time all was over, and the penalty was paid for the "tragedy of Seneca John."

STITCHES IN TIME

Save your own flower seeds this fall.

Where there are no vitamins, the people perish.

Mary had a little lunch, To tell the honest truth, Too little, quite inadequate; It wouldn't fill a tooth.

It went with her, this little lunch, This paper, bread and bacon, To school each day; she lost her punch. Her health was sadly shaken.

Til Mary's school served every day A warm milk soup nutritious, Now ask her how she feels; she'll say, "Oh boy, I feel auspicious."

When it comes to sweeping clean, a new broom has nothing on a new vacuum cleaner. And it saves no end of mother's time and energy.

Samantha says Homes where the women folks sing as they work have riches which neither wind, rain nor bad markets can wipe out.

Three old broomsticks, says Mrs. L. J. Gilbert of Grover City, can be made into the best kind of tripod support for a homemade dress form.

The tank of an oil stove, located outside the house, with oil piped thru the wall on a gravity feed, has proved a help to a Lake County housewife. The oil man can fill the tank outside, without greasing up the kitchen linoleum.

The Tribune force are grateful to Mr. Charles Hartman for a basket of fine Niagara peaches from his orchard which he brought in last Monday morning, they are beautiful to look at and delicious when it comes to the eating.

SHORTS AND MIDLINGS

Limestone, phosphate and manure Clover, grain and grass assure.

Says Sam: The man who farms hill land is that much nearer Heaven and he deserves to be.

Hens more than 30 months old seldom pay.

Don't wait any longer for lower freight rates to order fall limestone. Lower rates can't come in time to change prices much this year, and delay will mean freight blocks, no lime on the land and losses greater than any possible saving.

About 25,000 bushels of wheat from pure line varieties have been certified for seed in Ohio. Only 150 of 600 dis passed certification requirements.

Community fairs are community builders. Look your teams in the teeth. Dental troubles mean digestive disorders hard on horseflesh.

Thirteen is an unlucky number for fertilizers. So are all numbers below 13. Every fertilizer should contain at least 14 percent plant food materials. Add the numbers on the tag.

Scrubs are worth something as fertilizer.

TYNER — SEIGEL On Saturday morning August 27th McKinley Seigel of Pettitsville and Miss Nola Tyner were united in Holy Wedlock by Rev. S. R. Dunham at the parsonage of the Methodist church.

Miss Tyner has been employed as County Health Clerk, and is prominently known among the young people of Wauseon.

Mr. Seigel has a position on the New York Central.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Seigel left for a short honeymoon trip to Buffalo after which they will be at home to their many friends in Wauseon.

T. AND I. TO INCREASE PLANT On account of its steady increase in the demand for electrical current the T. and I. power plant at Stryker will add new and modern machinery. With the addition of this new equipment they will be able to supply the needs of many towns. At present about 20 towns and villages are being lighted from the power house at Stryker.

LOOKING FOR FARMS IN FULTON

E. E. Overmeyer of Lindsey, Sandusky County, Ohio, with an auto load of his farmer friends called on A. E. Harger during a tour through Fulton County last Saturday for the purpose of ascertaining the kind of soil, farm buildings, roads and school facilities in this locality.

These men are all prominent farmers of Sandusky County and are looking for farms that can be purchased where they can be utilized for school facilities, such as Fulton, Amboy, Royaltan and Chesardfield Townships now have. They came through Swanton and Delta on their way to Wauseon and were much impressed with the farm buildings and soil in York Township, but after learning that the York Township did not have a Centralized School, they stated that they would not consider purchasing a farm in that Township unless it be close to Delta or Wauseon where they could have the advantage of a high school.

We extend to these gentlemen a cordial welcome to our County.

ALL SET FOR THE FAIR

September 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th New Buildings — Improved Track — Train Schedule and Business Boosters

It is safe to say that never before in all its history has the Fulton County Fair Ground been in better condition for the annual fair than it is this year. The Fulton County Agricultural Society has expended over $7,000.00 on the grounds this year; four new buildings have been erected, a cattle show pavilion 66x112 with spacious show ring and capable of seating 1200 people; Cow Barn 40x200 and Horse Barn 40x112, besides these buildings bleachers to accommodate 600 persons have been erected, buildings and fence about the track have been given a coat of white paint; the track itself has been widened ten feet on the entire home stretch and the quarterposts have been painted in colors so that they are now plainly discernible from the grand stand or the bleachers. Trees have been trimmed and the grounds cleaned up so that every thing is set for the "big fair" next week.

Regular trains on the D. T. and I. railway will stop at the fair grounds every day of the fair and on Thursday next, September 8th the business places of Wauseon will close at 11:00 a. m. and all boost for biggest and best Fair in Northwestern Ohio.
